Editorial Note

Volume I, Issue I – Académique Journal of Quality
Exegium Scholarly Press

We are pleased to present the inaugural issue of the Académique Journal of Quality, a multidisciplinary, peer-reviewed platform committed to advancing scholarly dialogue across diverse domains of research. This issue marks the formal launch of a publication initiative grounded in the values of academic rigor, ethical integrity, and knowledge dissemination.

The articles featured in this first volume span a broad spectrum of disciplines - including precision agriculture, environmental science, management studies, digital consumer behaviour, homeopathic medicine, and classical philosophy. Each contribution has undergone a rigorous review process and reflects our commitment to publishing research of substantive intellectual merit and contemporary relevance.

As a newly established scholarly journal, our vision is to foster cross-disciplinary engagement and provide a credible space for emerging and established scholars alike. We remain dedicated to maintaining high editorial standards, supporting authors through transparent processes, and contributing meaningfully to global academic discourse.

We extend our sincere appreciation to the authors, reviewers, and editorial advisors whose contributions have made this launch possible. We invite readers and researchers to engage with this issue and consider future submissions as we build a robust academic community through the Académique Journal of Quality.
